CONDITIONS FOR USE OF THE STANDARDIZATION MARK

The permit shall be issued subject to the provisions of the Standards Act, Cap 496 Laws of Kenya and Permits and Fees Regulations which include:

- i. The permit-holder shall comply with the general and specific conditions and the contents of the scheme of supervision and control which the Certification Body may issue from time to time.
- ii. The permit is not transferable with respect to the applicant product, brand and production site
- iii. Costs incurred during inspection to determine whether commodities to which standardization has been applied fulfil applicable requirements set forth by the Product Certification Body (PCB) shall be defrayed by the permit-holder.
- iv. The right to use the mark applies only to the commodities listed in the Permit.
- v. Costs incurred in applying the product certification mark shall be defrayed by the permit-holder.
- vi. The Product Certification body reserves the right to revise product certification scheme requirements.
- vii. If the Kenya Standard/approved specifications and/or company specification on which the permit is based is revised, the Permit shall be valid only if the permit-holder agrees to comply with the requirements set forth in the revised Kenya Standard or approved specification.
- viii. The permit shall be valid for the period shown on the permit unless earlier suspended or revoked.
- ix. The permit holder shall insert the permit number in the format "SM#PERMIT NO." or "DM#PERMIT NO." in the labels below the Standardization Mark logo, as applicable.
- x. The permit holder shall not redesign the certification mark and shall only enlarge or reduce it proportionately
- xi. In the event that for any reason there is stoppage of production with regard to the product described on the permit, the manufacturer shall be obliged to notify the Managing Director/ Regional Manager, Kenya Bureau of Standards about the stoppage, for the suspension of the permit. Failure to do so shall be deemed as misuse of the permit whether valid or expired and shall lead to demand to pay accrued monies in the period that renewal of same permit had not taken place.
- xii. The breach of any of the conditions constitute an offence under the provisions of Standards act and the Permits and Fees Regulations.
- xiii. The permit holder aggrieved by a decision of PCB may appeal in writing to the standards tribunal
